The Israeli Association of International Studies presents:

First IAIS Research Colloquium for Ph.D. Students in International Studies

from Israel and Overseas

Ben-Gurion University of the Negev, Marcus Campus, Beer Sheva, Israel, March 3, 2022

(live, not zoom, to be conducted in English only)

Call for Papers

The First IAIS Research Colloquium for Ph.D. Students in International Studies invites applications for participation in the research colloquium for a selected number of Ph.D. students from Israel and overseas (up to thirty participants), to present and discuss their work in progress with their graduate peers and with leading scholars from Israel.

Ph.D. students are encouraged to submit paper abstracts (no longer than 300 words) in English only, to be considered to one of the research workshops that will take place throughout the day (from 10:00 to 18:00). The colloquium will include parallel workshop sessions, and plenary discussions regarding methodological tips and advice for their early academic careers.

All colloquium participants must submit a paper ahead of the colloquium, read the papers of the other participants, and take an active part in the workshop. Submissions should represent original research.

There is no registration fee for this Research Colloquium, but the participation will be limited to a selected number of Ph.D. students.

Ph.D. students from overseas will have to follow the rules of the Israeli Ministry of Health regarding “green passport” and vaccination certificates, and include a proof of health insurance during their stay in Israel. Although there are no registration fees, there are no travel funds available regarding travel and housing in Israel.

Submission Guidelines

Application forms are available: <https://forms.gle/CSyvtgz7xUzTLsq87>.

The applications should be submitted as soon as possible, and no later than December 15, 2021.

In addition, please send a Word version of your abstract to the Academic Convener of the Research Colloquium, Prof. Arie M. Kacowicz, arie.kacowicz@mail.huji.ac.il.
